The Future of the Nursing Workforce in the United States Peter Buerhaus, Douglas Staiger, David Auerbach, 2009-10-06
The Future of the Nursing Workforce in the United States Data Trends and Implications provides a timely comprehensive and integrated body of data supported by rich discussion of the forces shaping the nursing workforce in the US Using plain jargon free language the book identifies and describes the key changes in the current nursing workforce and provide insights about what is likely to develop in the future The Future of the Nursing Workforce offers an in depth discussion of specific policy options to help employers educators and policymakers design and implement actions aimed at strengthening the current and future RN workforce The only book of its kind this renowned author team presents extensive data exhibits and tables on the nurse labor market how the composition of the workforce is evolving changes occurring in the work environment where nurses practice their profession and on the publics opinion of the nursing profession The Future of Nursing 2020-2030 Mary K. Wakefield, David Rudyard Williams, Suzanne Le Menestrel, Jennifer Lalitha Flaubert, 2021 The decade ahead will test the nation s nearly 4 million nurses in new and complex ways Nurses live and work at the intersection of health education and communities Nurses work in a wide array of settings and practice at a range of professional levels They are often the first and most frequent line of contact with people of all backgrounds and experiences seeking care and they represent the largest of the health care professions A nation cannot fully thrive until everyone no matter who they are where they live or how much money they make can live their healthiest possible life and helping people live their healthiest life is and has always been the essential role of nurses Nurses have a critical role to play in achieving the goal of health equity but they need robust education supportive work environments and autonomy Accordingly at the request of the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation on behalf of the National Academy of Medicine an ad hoc committee under the auspices of the National Academies of Sciences Engineering and Medicine conducted a study aimed at envisioning and charting a path forward for the nursing profession to help reduce inequities in people s ability to achieve their full health potential The ultimate goal is the achievement of health equity in the United States built on strengthened nursing capacity and expertise By leveraging these attributes nursing will help to create and contribute comprehensively to equitable public health and health care systems that are designed to work for everyone The Future of Nursing 2020 2030 Charting a Path to Achieve Health Equity explores how nurses can work to reduce health disparities and promote equity while keeping costs at bay utilizing technology and maintaining patient and family focused care into 2030 This work builds on the foundation set out by The Future of Nursing Leading Change Advancing Health 2011 report Assessing Progress on the Institute of Medicine Report The Future of Nursing National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Institute of Medicine, Committee for Assessing Progress on Implementing the Recommendations of the Institute of Medicine Report The Future of Nursing: Leading Change, Advancing Health, 2016-03-22 Nurses make up the largest segment of the health care profession with 3 million registered nurses in the United States Nurses work in a wide variety of settings including hospitals public health centers schools and homes and provide a continuum of services including direct patient care health promotion patient education and coordination of care They serve in leadership roles are researchers and work to improve health care policy As the health care system undergoes transformation due in part to the Affordable Care Act ACA the nursing profession is making a wide reaching impact by providing and affecting quality patient centered accessible and affordable care In 2010 the Institute of Medicine IOM released the report The Future of Nursing Leading Change Advancing Health which made a series of recommendations pertaining to roles for nurses in the new health care landscape This current report assesses progress made by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation AARP Future of Nursing Campaign for Action and others in implementing the recommendations from the 2010 report and identifies areas that should be emphasized over the next 5 years to make further progress toward these goals

The Future of Nursing Institute of Medicine, Committee on the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Initiative on the Future of Nursing, at the Institute of Medicine, 2011-03-08 The Future of Nursing explores how nurses roles responsibilities and education should change significantly to meet the increased demand for care that will be created by health care reform and to advance improvements in America's increasingly complex health system At more than 3 million in number nurses make up the single largest segment of the health care work force They also spend the greatest amount of time in delivering patient care as a profession Nurses therefore have valuable insights and unique abilities to contribute as partners with other health care professionals in improving the quality and safety of care as envisioned in the Affordable Care Act ACA enacted this year Nurses should be fully engaged with other health professionals and assume leadership roles in redesigning care in the United States To ensure its members are well prepared the profession should institute residency training for nurses increase the percentage of nurses who attain a bachelor's degree to 80 percent by 2020 and double the number who pursue doctorates Furthermore regulatory and institutional obstacles including limits on nurses scope of practice should be removed so that the health system can reap the full benefit of nurses training skills and knowledge in patient care In this book the Institute of Medicine makes recommendations for an action oriented blueprint for the future of nursing
